

AD SANTELL IS PINNED DOWN

Joe Stecher Uses His Body Scissors on Pacific Coast Champion.

San Francisco, Feb. 22.—It took Joe Stecher of Nebraska, heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, less than one hour here this afternoon to crush the titular ambitions of Ad Santell, Pacific coast heavyweight champion. The Nebraska secured the first fall in 35 minutes and 17 seconds, with a body scissors and a double wrist lock. The second flop came in 17 minutes and 54 seconds, when Santell was pinned with a double wrist lock. Santell was outclassed throughout the bout and was like a child in the grip of the big Nebraska. With the exception of a few minutes at the beginning of the match, and just before the conclusion, he was entirely on the defensive. Not once did he have the champion in jeopardy. On the other hand, Stecher continually was on top of Santell, with his powerful legs wrapped around the San Franciscan, who was kept so busy saving himself that he had little or no opportunity to try for any of his favorite holds. A crowd estimated at between 12,000 and 14,000 persons saw the bout, which was held in the great exposition auditorium. According to the terms, a time limit of one and one-half hours was placed on the duration of the match, the referee to render a decision on points in the event of no falls. Stecher weighed 265 pounds, while his rival was twenty pounds lighter. Charley Andrews, wrestling instructor at the University of California, was the referee.

The second fall stunned Yokel, who was thrown over Ketonen's head, and his showing in the final fall was indifferent.

U. OF U. LINEUP NOT DECIDED

Hoopsters of University Meet B. Y. U. Team Tonight at Deseret Gymn.

Salt Lake, Feb. 23.—When the University of Utah hoop quintet clashes with the B. Y. U. team on the floor of the Deseret gymnasium here tonight, Norgren's supporters will have their last opportunity to make themselves felt this year in the state collegiate championship race and their last fling at justifying their competition in the A. A. U. basketball tournament next month. A victory will not only put the Utah back in the race for the state flag, but may revive the hope, very forlorn at present, that Coach Norgren will allow his team to defend its title of world's champions. Norgren is sending a rejuvenated team against the apparent state champions tonight. Although Van Pelt has been on the hospital list for a short time this week, the elongated center is in physical trim again and will be in action. With the exception of the center position, Norgren has not made up his mind fully about the lineup for the game. He will pick his forwards from Sproull, Woodbury, Jim Smith and Blundy Thorum. It looks like Sproull and Woodbury, although both Smith and Thorum have been showing in great style at practices this week. Thorum is the ubiquitous one, having shown that he can play almost any position on the team with a lot of skill. While his chief forte seems to be at center, Norgren has the impression that Blundy has the making of a crack forward and he may try to justify this tonight. Dick Romney will no doubt hold down his regular guard position. Dick has been running true to form in the workouts this week and should be in fine fettle at the fray tonight. Pug Warner is the best bet for the other guard position, although Norgren may try Blundy Thorum's multifarious talents in this position at the start of the contest. The B. Y. U. contingent is coming Salt Lakeward at least 250 strong. This information can be gleaned from the advance order which the southerners have sent for seats at the gymnasium. It is thought that Coach Roberts will use the same lineup which brought him the 33-32 victory against the Salt Lakers two weeks ago. Some change may be made, however, as the wary mentor has dropped several hints to the effect that the lineup is billed for a slight shakeup. The only position definitely determined upon is Eggertsen, who will play at center. The left forward position will be filled by either Andrus or Oberhansley; Raile will probably be in action at left guard and McDonald and Simmons will probably hold forth in the forward positions.

In a one-sided game last Wednesday night, the Kaysville basketball five walked away with the O. H. S. quint by a score of 67 to 16. The game was played in Kaysville and a large crowd witnessed the contest. Simpson played the stellar game for the farmers, while D. Marshall starred for the Tigers. QUARREL OVER HOOP SCORE

Logan, Feb. 22.—After a lengthy squabble among the scorekeepers, a decision was finally reached that the B. Y. C. won the basketball game played here this afternoon with a picked team from the agricultural college. Several of the scorekeepers recorded a one-point victory for the Aggies, while the score books of the remainder gave the game to the church school by one point. The score as finally given official sanction by the warring parties follows: B. Y. C., 17; U. A. C., 16.

The Aggie team consisted of Salt Lake High school athletes who are now attending the agricultural college, but who are ineligible to participate in collegiate games on account of the freshman athletic ruling. The game was rough throughout and many fouls were called on both teams. At times the play showed a startling similarity to what oftentimes is the rule on the football field, but notwithstanding the great goods of roughing, the contest provided thrills aplenty for the gallery.

Lollo Spencer was high point getter for the Aggie contingent, scoring all but four of his team's tallies. Eleven of the church school's points were made on throws six of the foul baskets and McBride five.

ACADEMY LOSES TO BRIGHAM CITY

Outmatched in weight, experience and knowledge of the game, the Weber academy basketball team went down to defeat at Brigham City last night at the hands of the Box Elder high school team. Without a shadow of a chance to win, the Ogden boys fought hard through the first half of the contest, but were virtually swept off their feet in the second half, the final score being 40 to 10, in favor of the northern hoopsters. N. Watkins was the star of the game, which was witnessed by a great crowd of fans, including a good-sized group from the Weber academy.

SALT LAKE MAY BE INCLUDED IN AUTO CIRCUIT
Los Angeles, Feb. 22.—Jack Prince, who is well known as a builder of speedways and automobile tracks, is in town. Jack says that if the George Washington sweepstakes next Sunday are a success and thereby indicate a public taste for that type of races, he will complete his financial arrangements for the construction of a string of tracks, including San Francisco, Seattle, Los Angeles, Salt Lake and possibly Denver. According to Prince, the smaller speedways are the more successful, and his idea is that a mile or mile and an eighth track affords more thrills to spectators and more excitement to drivers than the longer courses.

Theatres

AT THE ORPHEUM
Ogden folks will have their holiday entertainment, providing that entertainment appears interesting, in spite of rain, sleet, snow and slush, according to the record of attendance at the Orpheum theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. The stated combination of weather was what the showmen had to force through to win a seat for the Washington's birthday program of vaudeville provided by Manager Joseph Goss, which served well to make them forget for a time that winter is not yet past. There is an elaborate animal act on the bill and a musical revue, a big tenor and a youthful comedienne, with a couple of clever acrobats and a pair of negro comedians to add fuel to the fire of enjoyment.

With due regard for the big acts on the bill, the relative importance of which has been stated, the comedienne, Nancy Fair, wins first attention. She is a versatile little lady, who dances, sings and reads with equal facility and finish. She challenges the audience, in her opening song, to like her and then forces them to do it. It's a case of personality again, coupled with well trained talent. Incidentally, Miss Nancy does a bit of advertising for "Common Clay," impersonating Jane Cowl in an excerpt from one of the dramatic scenes of that noted drama, and at the same time wins a compliment for herself in the form of enthusiastic applause.

It was a real treat for the holiday patrons to hear Oscar Watch sing the old, yet ever young, favorite "Genevieve" and an Irish song. He has a tenor voice finely adapted to ballad singing and sufficient to opera selections as well, this being shown in a scene from "Il Trovatore," in which he was assisted by Elvira Rand, a soprano. The soprano was also heard in "The Jewel Song" from "Faust," the number being well received.

Ethel Whiteside is sponsor of the musical revue, in which Ardelle Cleaves, Bob Harmon and Jack Ellisworth are featured. It is called "All Aboard" and is presented in six scenes with a pony ballet of six girls, who wear a number of neat costumes in the ensemble song and dance numbers. A southern homestead, Parisian cafe, London, Berlin, Yacht and a New York ballroom are pictured in the stage settings and the music and dances are according to these bits of local color. Miss Cleaves made a big hit yesterday with a violin solo and the song "Lonesome" and the dancing of Ellsworth and Harmon was interesting. The act, on the whole, was capably presented and well received.

The biggest and most pleasing animal act of the season is presented by Olympia Desvall & Co. It has been lifted from a European circus ring and is performed by a number of blooded dogs and two handsome ponies, under the direction of two trainers. All of the animals display much intelligence and the act includes some imposing groupings. It is a big feature of the bill and the well-groomed animals proved of equal interest to young and old yesterday.

There is a laugh and an echoing chuckle after every line spoken by Moss and Frye, two ebony hued comedians, their dialogue failing to dovetail at any point. This idea, as the "ebonies" proceed, proves a highly successful humor and to the fun they added a couple of songs that win enthusiastic encores.

The Novell Brothers, who open the show, are well named, as their act, acrobatics and comedy, is a continuous novelty. They perform numerous feats of tumbling, while playing violins and finish the act with a funny travesty, "The Nightingales' Flirtation."

DRAINAGE DITCH CREATED

Brigham City, Feb. 22.—The county commissioners yesterday created the Elwood drainage district, upon petition of prominent men of that section of the county. The tract to be included in the district lies between Bear River City and Tremonton, and is in the heart of the farming section of the Bear River valley.

The board of supervisors appointed is composed of J. W. Frankum, P. W. Christensen and Elias Anderson. This is the third drainage district to be created in Box Elder county in the past two years, and when the three districts are completed will reclaim upwards of 20,000 acres of choice farming lands.
